
Karine S. has declined the interview request for: English-French Translator

From : oDesk Notification <donotreply@odesk.com>

Wed, Mar 28, 2012 09:48 AM

Subject : Karine S. has declined the interview request for:
English-French TranslatorTo : Spence Green <rayder441@odesk.com>oDesk

Hi Spence,

Karine S. has declined your team's invitation to interview for the job: English-French Translator.

Additional Message from Contractor:

Thank you for the invitation but I believe your requirements are against how professional translators work.

Translation takes time to think about things, so for instance, 3 minutes is not always enough to come up with the correct way to say something, translation should never be rushed, it also doesn't seem to take into account the "sleep" time which is when you set aside your translation in order to come back to it later with new fresh eyes. There is no sense in deduction paid-words due to so-called inactivity, who or what is recording what happens in our brain?!

Thanks,
oDesk Support

View online help about this

Change email preferences - oDesk Home - Contact Support

You (rayder441@odesk.com) are receiving this email as part of your oDesk membership. If you want to stop receiving this type of messages go to Message Center Preferences. This is an automated message from oDesk, Inc. - 901 Marshall Street, 2nd Floor, Redwood City, CA 94063
